

Reasons for Support: Jeff is qualified to serve on City Council. He is a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission, serving as Chair for the last two years. He is an architect by profession. This experience has given him vital knowledge of the City's development review process and its Land Use Code. Jeff agrees with FCBR's positions on key issues such as housing affordability, occupancy limits and the need to address revisions to the Land Use Code as a means by which to make new homes more affordable. He expressed the desire to form a close partnership with FCBR to make the Strategic Housing Plan work, an aspiration that is important to the Association because it has championed housing affordability and attainability for many years.
