

Exodus Moving & Storage, established in 1996, is a reputable and family-owned business headquartered in the picturesque heart of Colorado. Under the dedicated leadership of Ilan Levy and Carrie Levy, our company has proudly served individuals, families, and businesses for over two decades, making their relocation experiences seamless and stress-free.

Our core values revolve around the principles of care and professionalism. We understand the emotional and logistical challenges that come with moving, which is why we handle our clients' precious belongings with the utmost diligence and respect. Our team is committed to ensuring that each relocation is executed flawlessly, leaving our clients with peace of mind throughout the process.

While our roots are firmly planted in Colorado, our reach extends far beyond. We have expanded our trusted services to cover a wide geographic area, including Fort Collins, Boulder, Denver, and even beyond the state lines. Our nationwide relocation services allow us to cater to clients from coast to coast, maintaining the same level of excellence and dedication that has defined us since our inception.

Exodus Moving & Storage takes great pride in its local roots and unwavering commitment to the community. We actively participate in community initiatives and give back whenever possible, reinforcing our position as a trusted and responsible member of the Colorado community.

Whether you're moving within our beautiful state or embarking on a long-distance journey, Exodus Moving & Storage is your trusted partner for a smooth and hassle-free relocation experience. With us, you're not just moving your belongings; you're moving with confidence.
